Headline:
Showers, heavy at times, developing, after a bright, chilly start.

Today:
A cold but generally dry and bright start. However, patchy cloud will develop through the morning, bringing scattered showers. These will be heavy at times with a risk of hail and thunder. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers dying out this evening to leave a dry night with largely clear skies. It will be cold, and a patchy frost is likely to form by dawn. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Thursday:
Another cold but bright start on Friday. Patchy cloud developing from mid-morning, bringing scattered showers, some of which will be heavy. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Saturday starting dry, but persistent rain and strong winds will soon spread north. Warm with sunny spells Sunday, but showers possible later. Cooler Monday with sunny spells, but showers developing.
